

Save the Courthouse Building

Keep Planned OHA Slum Out of our Neighborhood!

Developer Trammel-Crow and the Oakland Housing Authority have a plan to demolish the historic, 100+ year old Courthouse Athletic Club Building on 30th and Telegraph and replace it with a Housing Project.

We don't think the city needs to approve this un-needed 115 unit, high density, subsidized housing project. This project can legally pack in nearly 500 subsidized renters. This will severely impact the character of this struggling neighborhood. Parking will completely disappear on 29th and 30th streets and will severely impact the existing community!

The developer Trammel-Crow received approval for this project and promised to build market-rate condos, then without a public approval process or updating the Environmental Impact Report, changed this to a completely different, subsidized housing project with the OHA. Stop this midnight deal that OHA's own director wants "under the radar". Their building plan is not even properly designed for a 'housing project' and is out of scale to the surrounding community.

Don't let a historic landmark be destroyed so the OHA can build an unwanted Housing Project in our neighborhood! Get involved!
